EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The average daily population during this second quarter of 2012 (April-June) was the highest it's been in a year both in terms of the custody and jurisdiction populations. This was mostly due to an increase among the criminally sentenced population. Monthly averages can range and are normal among the various types of criminally sentenced admissions and releases, with the totals therein driven by new court commitments (admissions) and expiration of sentence to the Street (releases) representing the largest type respectively.

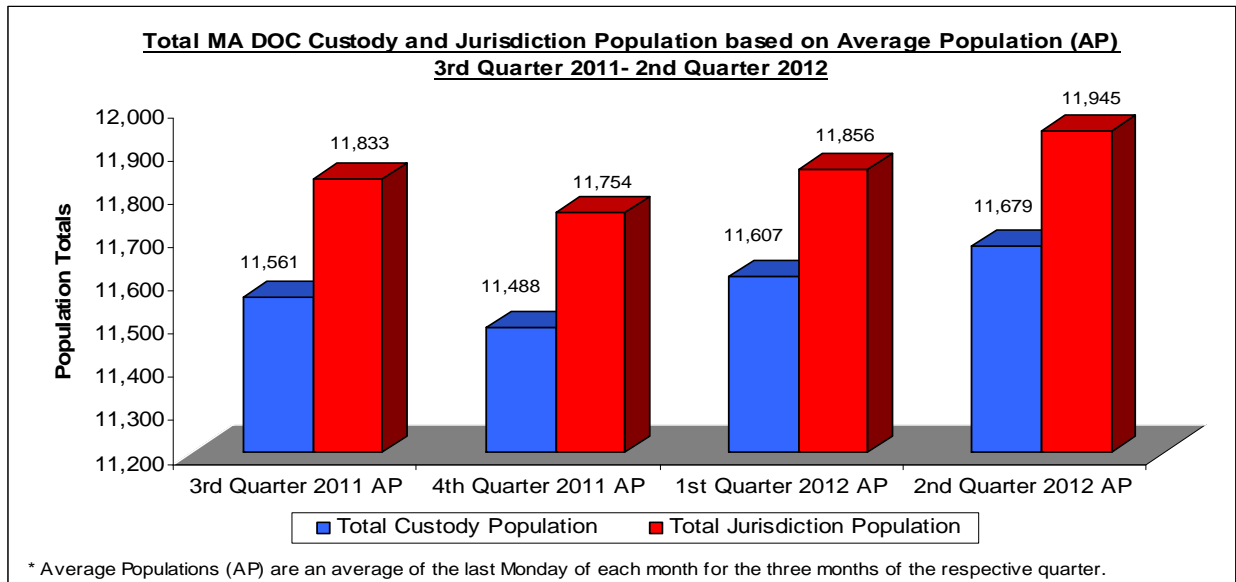

From July 2011 through June 2012:

- Admissions outpaced releases resulting in a cumulative increase of 127 inmates in the MA DOC jurisdiction population
- Based on monthly averages, 44% of admissions were pre-trial detainees, 32% were criminally sentenced and 24% were civil commitments. Release averages were almost exactly the same in proportion
- Among the criminally sentenced population, the cumulative difference between admissions and releases among females decreased by 99 inmates, whereas it increased by 181 among males
- The percent of criminally sentenced releases to the street paroled continues to fluctuate ranging these last 4 quarters from a low of 17% to a high of 25%, while averaging 22% over the last year
  - Compared to the second half of 2011, the percentage of female releases to the street via parole was still on the rise, but on a decline from the first quarter of 2012, decreasing from 30% to 20%
  - Sixty-two percent of criminally sentenced males were released with some type of criminal justice supervision (parole and/or probation) during this quarter compared to 54% two quarters back
- Civil commitment admissions averaged 208 per month while releases averaged 209 reflecting an overall cumulative decrease of 14 civil commitments over the last year
- Pre-trial detainee admissions averaged 387 per month while releases averaged 382 resulting in an overall cumulative increase of 59 pre-trial detainees over the last year
  - Female pre-trial detainees comprise the majority (64%) of pre-trial admissions for this quarter, coming primarily from Essex (27%), Worcester (23%), Middlesex (22%), Norfolk (15%) and Plymouth (13%) counties
  - Male pre-trial detainees, representing 36% of pre-trial admissions, come primarily from Suffolk (55%) and Middlesex (29%) counties
  - Over the last year, 2,973 female pre-trial detainees were admitted and 2,949 released; 1,667 male pre-trial detainees were admitted and 1,632 were released

Section 1. Overview of MA DOC Populations, Admissions and Releases

1.1 Total MA DOC Custody<sup>1</sup> and Jurisdiction<sup>2</sup> Population

The average quarterly jurisdiction and custody populations in the Massachusetts Department of Correction rose in the first quarter of 2012, by 89 and 72 inmates respectively from first quarter 2012. During the trend period, both the jurisdiction and custody populations increased in number by 1%, with the jurisdiction population ranging from 11,754 inmates in the fourth quarter of 2011 to 11,945 in the second quarter of 2012.

1.2 Snapshot Totals for MA DOC Jurisdiction Population by Commitment Type

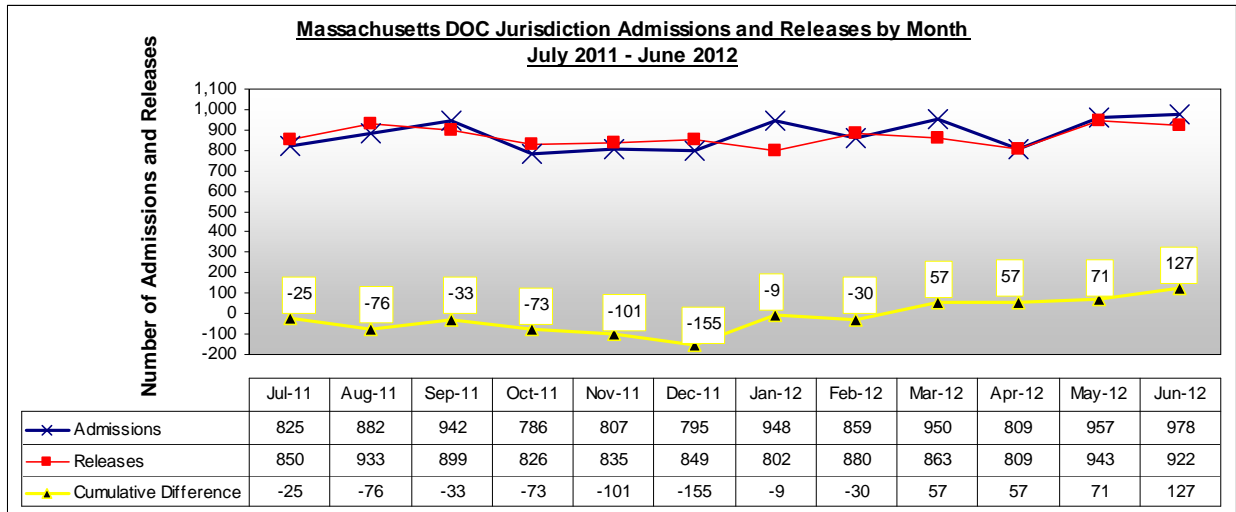

Snapshot data shows fluctuation amongst all types of commitments over the trend period. Civil commitments ranged from 617 to 668; the criminally sentenced population ranged from 10,469 to 10,659; the pre-trial detainee population ranged from 597 to 677.

<sup>1</sup>Total MA DOC custody population includes criminally sentenced inmates, pre-trial detainees, and civil commitments in MA DOC facilities, excluding MA DOC inmates housed in other jurisdictions.

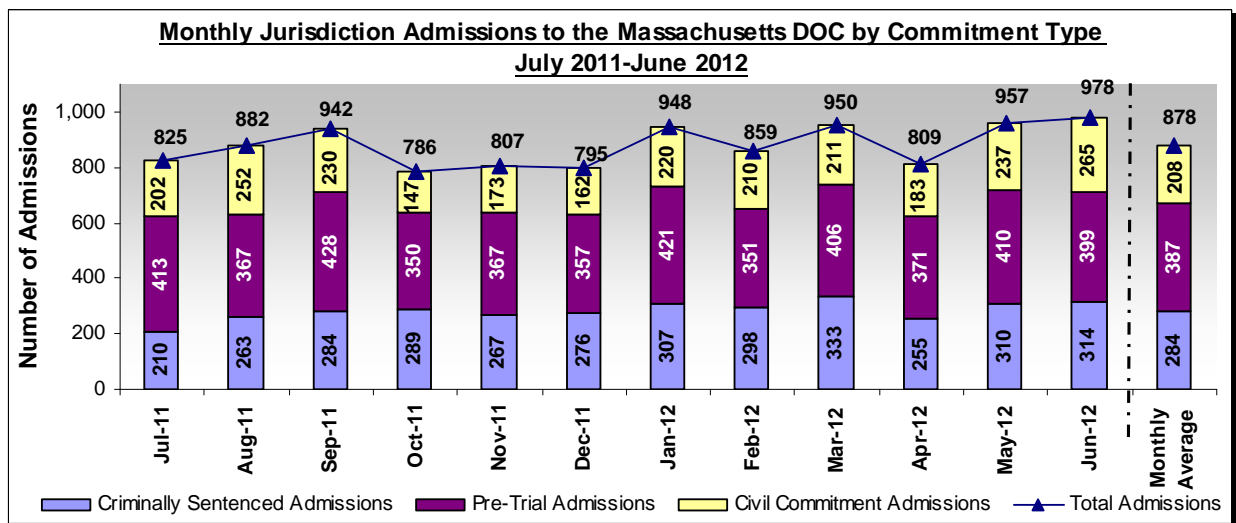

<sup>2</sup>Total MA DOC jurisdiction population includes criminally sentenced inmates, pre-trial detainees, and civil commitments in MA DOC facilities and MA DOC inmates housed in county facilities, other state facilities, and federal facilities.

1.3 MA DOC Total Admissions and Releases by Month

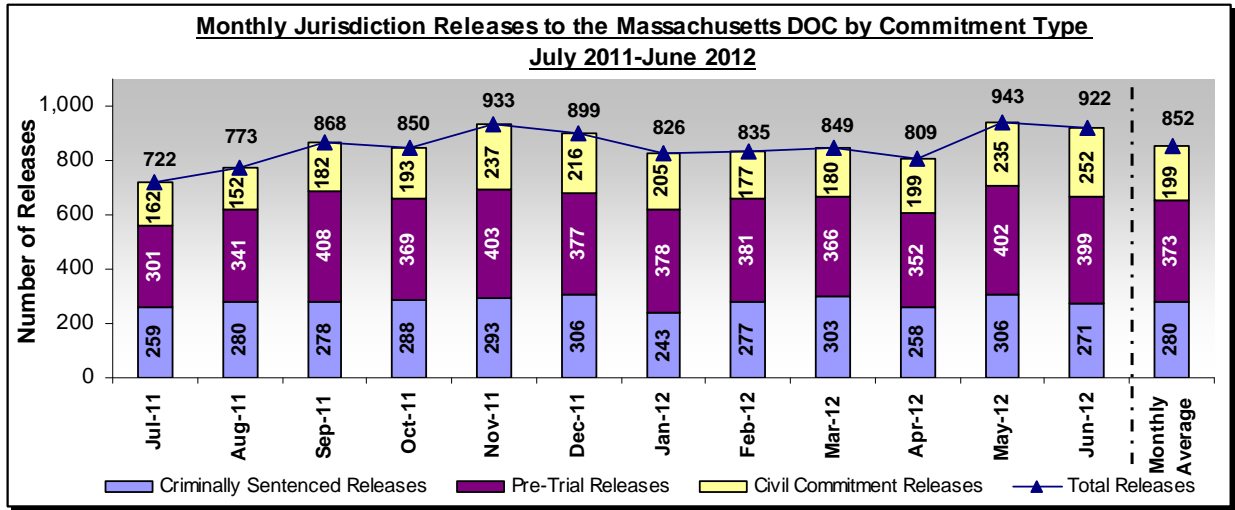

During the trend period, July 2011 to June 2012, total admissions to the MA DOC outpaced releases resulting in a cumulative increase of 127 inmates. Admissions ranged from a low of 786 to a high of 978, and averaged 878 admissions per month. Releases ranged from a low of 802 to a high of 933, and averaged 868 releases per month. Similar to the first quarter with admissions outpacing releases by a difference of 212 admissions, the second quarter of 2012 also saw a rise in population growth, with admissions outpacing releases by a difference of 70.

1.4 MA DOC Total Admissions

Based on the monthly average, 44% of admissions were pre-trial detainees, 32% were criminally sentenced, and 24% were civil commitments.

1.5 MA DOC Total Releases

According to the monthly average, 44% of releases were pre-trial detainees, 33% were criminally sentenced inmates, and 23% were civil commitments.

1.6 MA DOC Criminally Sentenced Admissions and Releases by Month

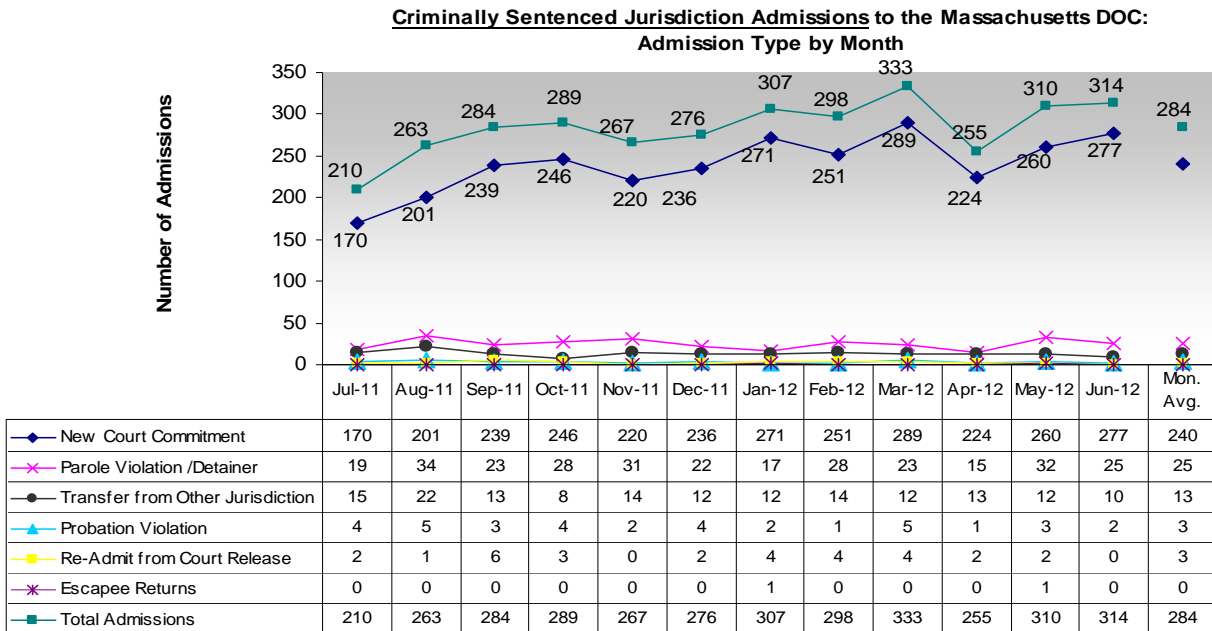

During the trend period, criminal admissions averaged 284 per month while releases averaged 277 per month. In the second quarter of 2012, criminally sentenced admissions outpaced releases by an additional 44 inmates.

Section 2. MA DOC Criminally Sentenced Admissions

2.1 MA DOC Criminally Sentenced Admissions by Type and Month

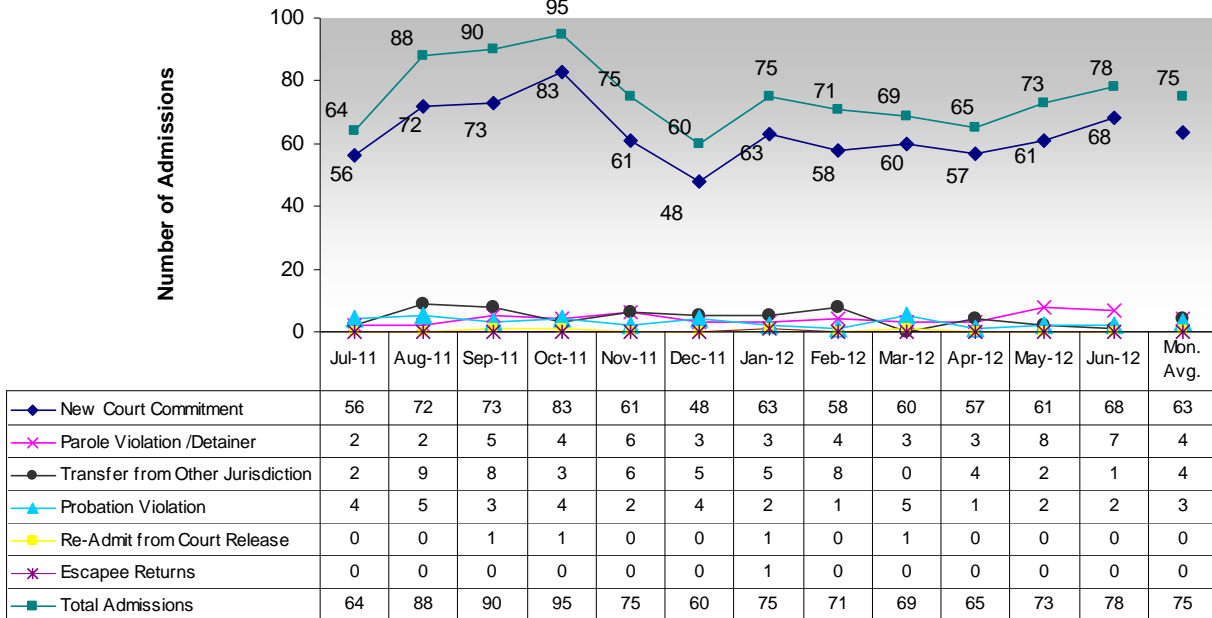

Criminally sentenced admissions to MA DOC are driven by new court commitments, which account for 83% of criminally sentenced admissions during the trend period. New court commitment admissions fluctuate from 170 to 289 with an average of 240 over the trend period. The monthly average for parole violations is 25, a transfer from other jurisdictions is 13, probation violators and re-admit from court release is 3. Grouped by quarters, the chart below illustrates a steady increase in new court commitments during the first half of 2012 when compared to the second half of 2011.

2.2 MA DOC Criminally Sentenced Admissions by Type and Quarter

2.3 MA DOC Female Criminally Sentenced Admissions by Type and Month

Female Criminally Sentenced Jurisdiction Admissions to the Massachusetts DOC: Admission Type by Month

Female criminally sentenced admissions ranged from a low of 60 to a high of 95. New court commitments comprised 84% of female admissions over this trend period, followed by transfer from other jurisdiction (6%), and parole violation/detainer (6%). During the second quarter of 2012, 216 criminally sentenced females were admitted to the MA DOC.

Section 3. MA DOC Criminally Sentenced Releases<sup>3</sup>

3.1 MA DOC Criminally Sentenced Releases by Type and Month

Criminally Sentenced Jurisdiction Releases from Massachusetts DOC: Release Type by Month

Fifty-four percent of criminally sentenced releases are due to an expiration of sentence, followed by 17% parole-expiration of sentence to other, 15% parole to street, and 10% non-DOC release to other jurisdiction. September 2011 and May 2012 had the greatest number of releases at 306 while the low was in October with 243 releases. The first half of 2012 had 96 fewer releases than the second half of 2011.

3.2 MA DOC Criminally Sentenced Releases by Type and Quarter

<sup>3</sup> Inmates released via expiration of sentence or parole includes all releases unless it is noted 'to the street'. For a complete list of expiration of sentence and parole releases, see Notes and Definitions in the Appendix.

3.3 MA DOC Female Criminally Sentenced Releases by Type and Month

Female Criminally Sentenced Jurisdiction Releases from MA DOC: Release Type by Month

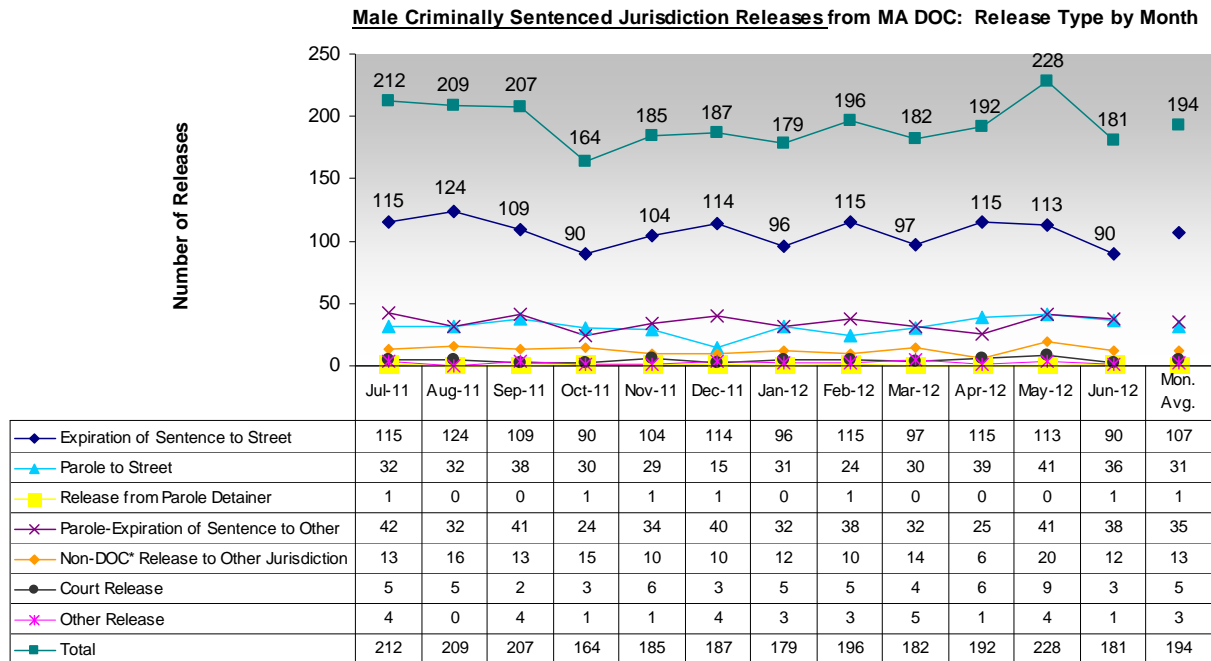

During the trend period, criminally sentenced females averaged 84 releases per month. The majority of females were released via an expiration of sentence (52%), followed by 19% non-DOC released to another jurisdiction, 14% released parole-expiration of sentence to other, and 12% were paroled to the street. During the second quarter of 2012, 234 criminally sentenced females were released with 167 releasing to the street.

3.4 MA DOC Female Criminally Sentenced Releases by Type and Quarter*

Section 4. MA DOC Criminally Sentenced Admission and Release Trends

4.1 MA DOC Female Criminally Sentenced Admissions and Releases

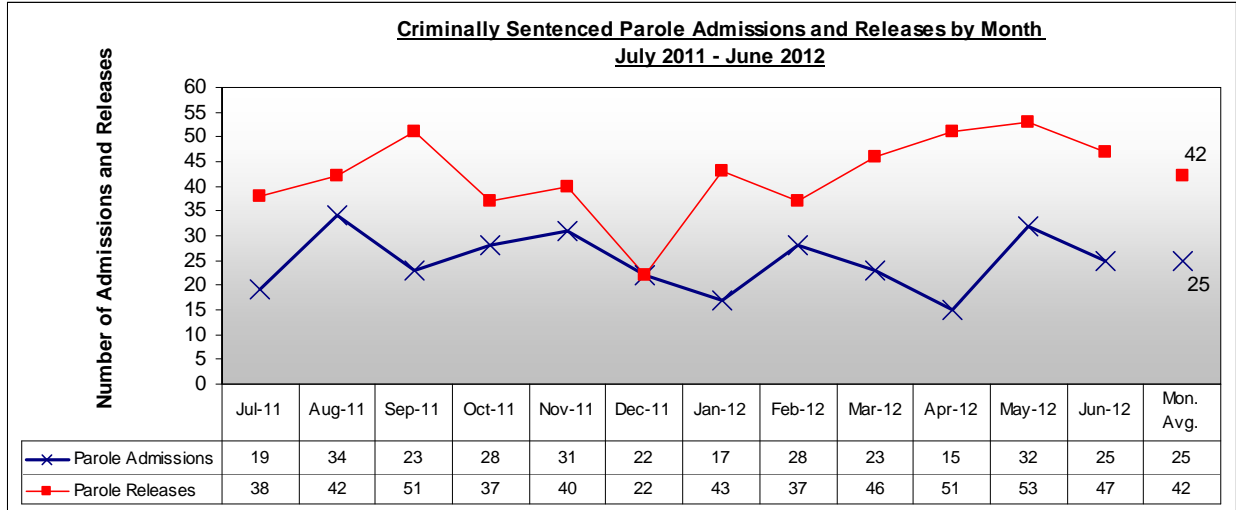

It is interesting to note the gender differences over the trend period for criminally sentenced admissions and releases: females decreased by 99 inmates while males increased by 119.

4.2 MA DOC Male Criminally Sentenced Admissions and Releases

Section 5. MA DOC Comparison of Parole Admissions and Parole Releases to the Street

5.1 MA DOC Parole Admissions and Parole Releases to the Street by Month

Parole releases outpaced parole admissions for a majority of the trend period, with a monthly average of 17 more parole releases per month compared to admissions, resulting in a cumulative decrease of 210 inmates. It is important to note that parole releases include inmates with prior violations as well as inmates being released for the first time from their current sentence.

5.2 MA DOC Parole Admissions and Releases to the Street by Quarter

6.3 MA DOC Female Criminally Sentenced Releases to the Street by Supervision Status

Criminally sentenced females are primarily released to the street due to an expiration of sentence; only 19% were paroled to the street.

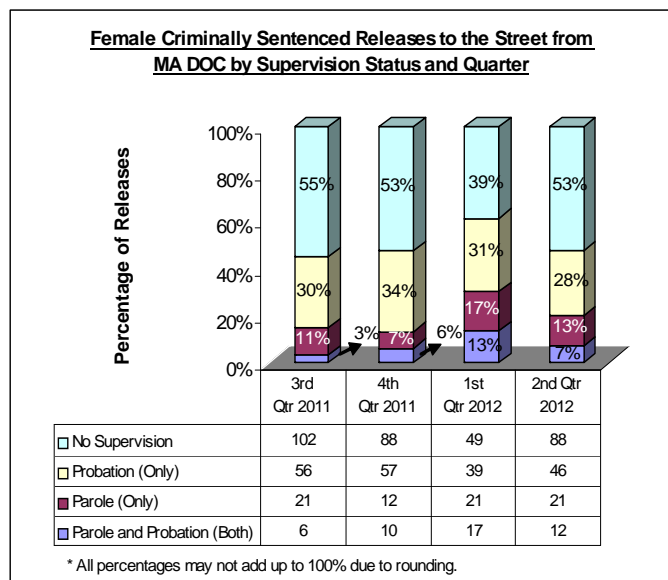

Forty-nine percent of female releases to the street are supervised upon release with either parole, probation or both.

Female Criminally Sentenced Releases to Street from MA DOC by Supervision Status June 2011- July 2012

6.4 MA DOC Female Criminally Sentenced Releases to the Street by Supervision Status and Quarter

After a decline in the percentage of female releases to the street with no supervision in the first quarter of 2012, this percentage once again increased to 53% during the second quarter of 2012. Over the course of the last year, 51% of females released to the street had no supervision, while 49% had supervision upon release.

Male Criminally Sentenced Releases to the Street from MA
DOC by Supervision Status June 2011- July 2012

6.7 MA DOC Male Criminally Sentenced Releases to the Street by Supervision Status and Quarter

Similar to females, criminally sentenced males are primarily released to the street due to an expiration of sentence; only 23% were paroled to the street.

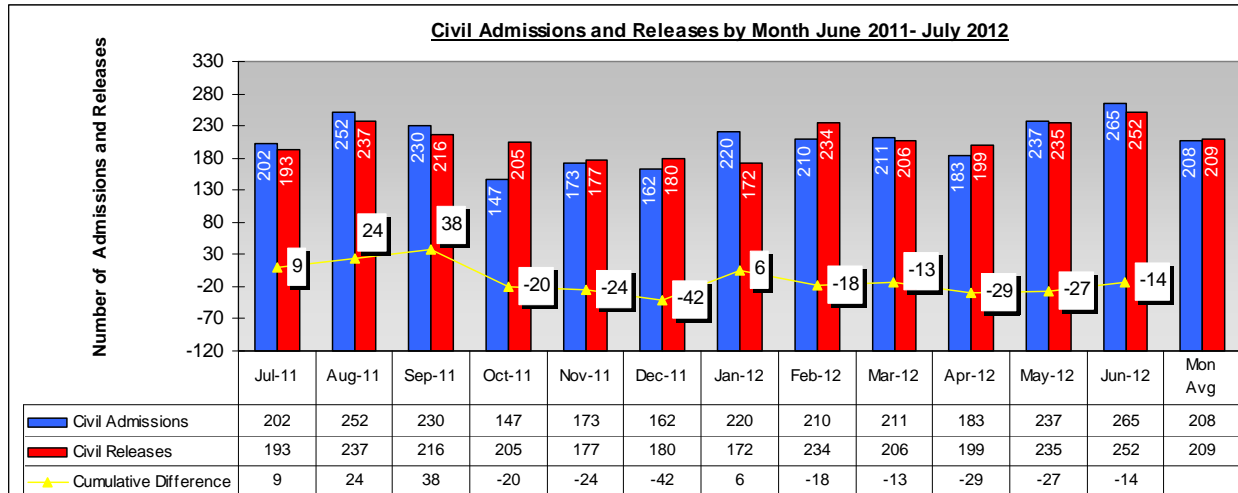

Throughout the last year, fifty-eight percent of male releases to the street are supervised upon release with either parole, probation or both (compared to 49% for females).

Unlike the female releases to the street, the percentage of males releasing to the street with supervision is continuing to increase in 2012, with only 38% releasing with no supervision in second quarter 2012, compared to 42% in the first quarter.

Section 7. MA DOC Civil Commitment Admissions and Releases

7.1 MA DOC Civil Admissions and Releases by Month

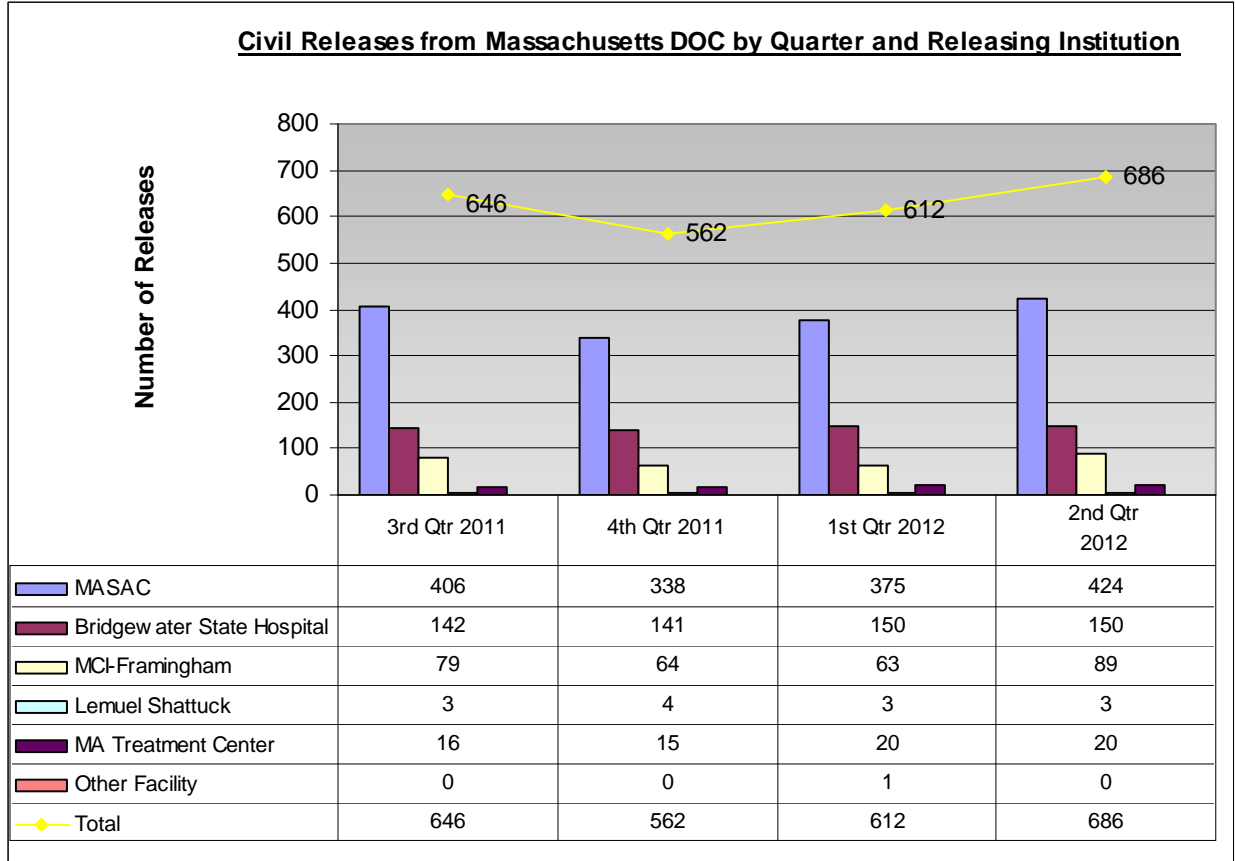

From the third quarter of 2011 through the second quarter of 2012, there were 2,492 civil commitment admissions and 2,506 releases. For both civil admissions and releases, 88% were male with females only accounting for 12% (at MCI-Framingham).

7.2 MA DOC Civil Admissions by Quarter and Admitting Institution

7.3 MA DOC Civil Releases by Quarter and Releasing Institution

MASAC was the admitting and releasing institution for over 60% of the civil admissions and releases during this trend period. Throughout the trend period, admissions (shown on prior page) and releases averaged 623, and 627, respectively per quarter. Also, during this trend period, releases just slightly outpaced admissions resulting in a cumulative decrease of 14 civil commitments.

Section 8. MA DOC Pre-Trial Detainee Admissions and Releases

8.1 MA DOC Pre-Trial Detainee Admissions and Releases

Pre-trial detainee admissions ranged from 350 to 428 per month with an average of 387. Pre-trial releases ranged from 352 to 403 per month with an average of 373. Admissions and releases over this trend period resulted in an increase of 59 pre-trial detainees.

8.2 MA DOC Pre-Trial Detainee Admissions by Quarter and Gender

Illustrated by the quarterly chart shown above, females comprise the majority of the pre-trial admissions to MA DOC.

Notes and Definitions

Note: Admission and Release data for this report was gathered in January of 2011. Numbers in this report may vary slightly from numbers in other reports due to the continuous updating of data and information in the Inmate Management System

Admissions	Inmates or detainees committed to a MA DOC facility as a “new court commitment”, “parole violator”, “transfer from other jurisdiction”, “probation violator”, “awaiting trial detainee”, a “civil commitment” or other admission through legal means.
Awaiting Trial or “Detainee”	An individual who is detained prior to trial, but not yet convicted of a crime to include male and female county detainees, male county detainees transferred to state facilities under Massachusetts General Law Chapter 276, section 52A, and federal detainees (both male and female).
Civil Commitment or “Civil”	The involuntary commitment of an individual via legal means to incarcerate an individual against their will.
Criminally Sentenced	An individual who has been found guilty of a criminal offense through legal means, and is required to be incarcerated.
Custody Population	An individual is considered to be in Massachusetts DOC custody when they are being held in a Massachusetts DOC facility.
Expiration of Sentence (Release)	An inmate is discharged from his sentence at the expiration of his term, less any statutory or earned good time. Statutory good time was eliminated for all offenses committed after June 30, 1994, due to the enactment of the “Truth in Sentencing” law. “Expiration of Sentence” releases include “Expiration to Street”, “Expiration to Out of State Sentence”, “Expiration to Federal Authority”, “Expiration to Immigration”, “GCD/EXP/REL to F&A/CC HOC Sentence”, “Expiration to Warrant”, “Expiration to From & After/CC at DOC”, and “Expiration to Civil Commitment”.
HOC	House of Correction, i.e. county jail.
Jurisdiction Population	An individual is considered to be under Massachusetts DOC jurisdiction when the Commonwealth has legal authority over the individual regardless of where the inmate is being held to include those incarcerated in Massachusetts DOC facilities as well as those housed in correctional facilities outside of the Massachusetts DOC (Massachusetts Houses of Correction, other state’s correctional facilities and the Federal Bureau of Prisons).
MA DOC	Massachusetts Department of Correction, i.e. state prison.

Parole (Releases)

Inmates released on parole are under the supervision of parole while in the community and may be re-incarcerated for violating the terms of their supervision. Unless otherwise specified, parole releases may include “Parole to Street”, “Parole to Out of State Sentence”, Parole to Federal Authority”, “Parole to Immigration”, “Parole to From & After HOC Sentence”, “Parole to Warrant”, “Parole to From & After DOC Sentence”, or “Parole to Civil Commitment”.

Probation

Probation is a court-ordered sanction placed on a person convicted of a crime. The offender is allowed to remain in the community under the strict supervision of a probation officer.

Release to Street

A release to street occurs when an inmate is released from the custody of the Massachusetts DOC by way of parole or discharge to the street. Conditions warranting a release to street include: Parole, Good Conduct Discharge (GCD), and Expiration of Sentence.

Releases

A release occurs when an inmate is released from the custody of the Massachusetts DOC by way of expiration of sentence, parole, a non-DOC release to other jurisdiction, a court release or other legal release from the custody of MA DOC.
