Abstract

This report is a statistical description of the 1,695 individuals committed by the courts to a term of incarceration in the Massachusetts Department of Correction during the year 1981. The tables in this report contain information on the nature of present offense, personal background characteristics and criminal history of these individuals. Some highlights of the statistics presented in this report are:

- There was a 37 percent increase in the number of commitments during the year from 1,234 in 1980 to 1,695 in 1981.
- There were 674 commitments to Walpole (28 percent higher than 1980); 653 commitments to Concord (39 percent higher than 1980); and 368 commitments to Framingham (56 percent higher than 1980).
- The median minimum sentence for Walpole commitments is seven years; the median maximum sentence for Concord commitments is ten years; and the median maximum sentence for Framingham commitments is less than one year.
- Offenses against the person accounted for half of all commitments. Armed robbery accounted for almost a quarter of all commitments alone.
- The median age at commitment was 24 years. Walpole commitments tend to be the oldest, Concord commitments tend to be the youngest.
- Almost two-thirds of the commitment population are whites; almost two-thirds are single; sixteen percent have been in the military; forty-eight percent come from the Boston SMSA; most have limited work experience concentrated in the area of manual labor; the median educational level is eleventh grade; and one third of the population have prior drug use.
- Forty-five percent of the population is serving their first incarceration of any type. The median age of first court appearance is sixteen years.

Introduction

This report is a statistical description of individuals committed by the courts to the Massachusetts Department of Correction during 1981. The tables in this report contain information on the nature of the present offense, personal background characteristics and criminal history of admissions from the courts. The information on which this report is based is prepared by the Data Processing Unit of the Research Division.

This report includes all new court commitments as well as those who began serving a new sentence during the year (forthwith and from and after sentences). If an individual was committed to the Department more than once during 1981, that individual is counted as multiple court commitments. Several categories of offenders are not included in this report: those who began serving "B" and "C" sentences during 1981 (sentences received for crimes committed on parole) and those who were sentenced during 1981 but were still in a House of Correction awaiting placement in a DOC facility on January 1, 1982. There were 7 individuals awaiting placement on January 1, 1982.

The following information is helpful in reading the tables in this report. Each table is divided according to committing institution. Since each committing institution receives a very different type of offender, it is important to consider each column in the table as well as the total column.

The top number in each cell represents the number of individuals who fall into the corresponding category in the table. The bottom number in each cell appears in parentheses and represents the percentage of the number of individuals in a particular category to the total number of commitments from that institution (column percents).

Number of Commitments

There were 1,695 commitments during 1981, a 37 percent increase from the previous year. Figure 1 shows changes in the number of commitments from 1971 to 1981. This graph indicates that the number of commitments to the DOC is much higher than in any of the last ten years. Figure 2 shows the number of commitments to each committing institution. This graph indicates that commitments to each institution were also higher than in any of the preceding ten years. There are a number of factors that are related to the dramatic increase in commitments that occurred during 1981. Three of those factors are discussed here.

One factor that is associated with an increase in commitments to the DOC is a change in the use of "awaiting booking" status for offenders sentenced to the DOC. In the past a large number of offenders would be placed in Houses of Correction after sentencing to await space in a DOC facility. These individuals are not counted as commitments until they enter a DOC facility. This status is presently used infrequently because of increased population in county facilities. On January 1, 1982 there were 7 individuals in an awaiting booking status; on January 1, 1981 there were 131 individuals in that status. This change in status of 124 individuals affected the number of commitments occurring during 1981.

A second factor associated with an increase in commitments is an increased use of DOC facilities for the placement of women offenders. In 1980 there were 236 women committed to the DOC and 126 women committed to county facilities. In 1981 there were 368 women committed to the DOC, an increase of 56 percent over the previous year; there were 96 women committed to county facilities, a decrease of 24 percent over the same time period.

A third factor associated with an increase in commitments is a change in statutes regarding drug offenders. In 1980 there were 55 commitments to the DOC for drug offenses while in 1981 there were 196 commitments, an increase of 141 commitments or 256 percent in a single year. While offenses in other categories did increase, their rate of increase was markedly less than offenses in the drug category.

These three factors do not account for all of the increase in the number of commitments to the DOC. They do represent three policy changes that affected admission to DOC facilities during 1981.

A Description of 1981 Court Commitments

In this section a general description of the population of individuals committed to the Department during 1981 will be given. This description includes a discussion of the present offense, personal background of the offender and criminal history of the offender. Where appropriate, comparisons among the three committing institutions will be done.

Nature of Present Offense

In discussing the present offense of the commitment group, only the most serious offense, the offense for which the person received the longest sentence is discussed.

Court of Commitment. Eighty-three percent of the commitments to the Department of Correction are from Superior Courts. Three courts, Suffolk Superior, Middlesex Superior and Worcester Superior account for almost half of the commitments to the Department. All Walpole commitments come from Superior Courts and almost all Concord commitments come from Superior Courts. Only 29 percent of the commitments to Framingham are from Superior Courts; most commitments to Framingham are from municipal and district courts. Municipal courts are lower courts of Suffolk county; district courts are lower courts of all other counties.

Jail Credits. Jail credits measure that amount of time spent incarcerated by the individual while awaiting trial. A large number of jail credits is usually indicative of a serious crime or a low income offender. Seventy-one percent of Walpole commitments have one or more days of jail credits. This contrasts with 63 percent of Concord commitments and 23 percent of Framingham commitments. The median number of jail credits for all commitments during 1981 is 6.

Minimum Sentence. Only those individuals who receive a state prison sentence (Walpole commitments and some Framingham commitments) receive a minimum sentence. Generally minimum prison sentences must be for two and one-half years or more but in some cases can be shorter. Some drug offenses carry short prison sentences, for example. The median minimum sentence for Walpole commitments was seven years. There were 25 commitments to Framingham who will serve prison sentences. The median minimum sentence for those women is six years.

Maximum Sentence. All individuals committed to the Department have a maximum sentence. For Concord commitments this is their only sentence. Generally maximum sentences are two and one-half years or longer. For some offenses such as drug offenses, larceny and escapes a shorter sentence can be given. A large proportion of Framingham commitments will serve county sentences, those with a maximum length of less than two and one half years.

Of the 368 commitments to Framingham, 25 (7 percent) will serve prison sentences, 61 (16 percent) will serve reformatory sentences and 282 (77 percent) will serve county sentences.

Type of Sentence. The majority of individuals committed to the Department will serve simple sentences. Concurrent sentences are served by 30 percent of the commitment population. Less frequently used are aggregate, forthwith and from and after sentences.

Type of Offense. Type of offense varies by committing institution. The majority of Walpole and Concord commitments are for offenses against the person while offenses against property are the modal offense category for Framingham commitments.

Offenses against the person account for half of all commitments to the Department. Armed robbery accounts for 24 percent of all commitments. There were 142 commitments for homicides (first and second degree murder, manslaughter and vehicular homicide). The seven cases listed as "other" person offenses include 3 cases of mayhem and 4 cases of putting in fear for the purpose of stealing.

Property offenses accounted for 20 percent of all commitments to the Department and 36 percent of all commitments to Framingham. Burglary was the most common property offense for Walpole and Concord commitments; larceny was the most common offense for Framingham commitments.

Sex offenses account for 10 percent of all commitments to the DOC. There were 138 commitments for rape during 1981 and 27 commitments for assault with intent to rape. Additionally there were 2 commitments for unnatural acts and one commitment for lewd behavior.

Drug offenses accounted for 12 percent of all commitments to the DOC during 1981. As mentioned previously this is a large increase from the previous year. The most common drug offense is a violation of the Controlled Substance Act with a Class A substance.

Offenses in the "other" category account for very small proportions of Walpole and Concord commitments and 28 percent of commitments to Framingham. The most common offenses in this category are prostitution for which 39 women were committed and disturbing the peace for which 32 women were committed. The five offenses labelled "other" in the table include: unlawful possession of alcoholic beverage, interfering with a police officer, annoying phone calls, massage without a license and failure to appear in court.

Time Until Parole Eligibility. An indication of how much time offenders will actually serve is the time until their parole eligibility date. About one-half of all offenders will be released at their original parole eligibility date. For Walpole commitments the median time to serve is from 3 to 5 years. For Concord commitments the median time to serve is from 10 to 12 months. For Framingham commitments the median time to serve is less than three months.

Age at Incarceration. The median age at incarceration is twenty-four years old. The age of new commitments to the DOC ranged from fifteen years to seventy years.

Personal Background Characteristics

In discussing the personal background characteristics of the commitment population, all information is reported as the status of the offender at the time of commitment. Most of this information is self reported by the offender and is not verified in any way.

Sex. All Walpole and Concord commitments are males, all Framingham commitments are females. During 1981, 22 percent of the commitments were females and 78 percent were males.

Race and Ethnicity. Two-thirds of the 1981 commitment group were white and 31 percent were black. There were also three Native Americans and four Asians committed to the DOC. There were 22 Hispanics and 1 other individual whose race was not identified. Eight percent of the commitment group are Hispanics. This includes white hispanics, black hispanics and other hispanics.

Marital Status. Most of the commitments are single (66 percent). Seventeen percent of the commitment group were married at the time of their commitment, 10 percent were divorced, 6 percent separated and 1 percent widowed.

Military History. Sixteen percent of the commitment group have a history of military service. Of those with military service most were discharged honorably.

Prior Address. Almost all commitments to the DOC come from Massachusetts. Three counties, Suffolk, Worcester and Middlesex account for 58 percent of all commitments.

Occupation. Almost all of the individuals committed to the Department have previous work experience. For half of the commitment group the primary work experience came in the area of manual labor. The median time in the position of longest duration is 7 to 9 months.

Education. The median educational level for this population is eleventh grade. One third of the commitment group has completed high school, nine percent have some college education.

Drug Use. About one-third of the commitment group evidenced a history of prior drug use. Fifteen percent of the commitment group had a history of heroin use. Drug use history is generally based on offender self reports or criminal history records.

Criminal History

Information about the criminal history of individuals committed to the DOC is taken from reports prepared by the Board of Probation. These reports identify the number of court appearances and the offenses that the individual was charged with as well as case disposition information. In this section the individual's history of court appearances, incarcerations and paroles will be discussed.

Prior Court Appearances. The median number of court appearances for the commitment group is ten. The number of court appearances for person, property, sex, narcotics, drunkenness and escape offenses are also shown.

Prior Incarcerations. Half of the commitment group is serving their first adult incarceration. Twenty percent had a commitment as a juvenile, thirty-nine percent have been incarcerated in county correctional facilities and twenty-three percent have been incarcerated in a state or federal correctional facility.

Parole History. The number of paroles and parole violations that an individual experienced prior to this commitment are shown. About 25 percent of the commitment group experienced paroles in the past. Over 60 percent of those with a history of paroles also have one or more parole violations.

Age at Entry into Criminal Justice System. Age of the individual at their first court appearance and their first court appearance for a drug related offense or for a drunkenness related offense are shown. The median age at the time of first court appearance is 17 years of age.
