Abstract

This report presents a statistical description of the 3,835 releases to the street from the Massachusetts Department of Correction during 1990. This report also presents information on trends among releases over the last five years. Highlights from this report include the following:

- The 3,835 releases in 1990 represent an increase of 98 (3 percent) over 1989 releases and an increase of 813 (27 percent) over 1986 releases.
- The number of males released during 1990 increased by 6 percent from 1989, while the number of females released during 1990 decreased by 6 percent from 1989.
- Fifty-seven percent of all releases were by parole and 43 percent were by good conduct discharge or expiration of sentence.
- Fifty-three percent were released from maximum or medium security facilities and 47 percent were released from lower security facilities. Many of the releases from secure facilities were females serving county sentences or male parole violators.
- The average time served was 50.9 months for individuals serving Cedar Junction sentences, 24.3 months for individuals serving Concord sentences, and 7.0 months for individuals serving Framingham sentences.

Introduction

This report is a statistical description of releases to the street from facilities of the Massachusetts Department of Correction during 1990. The tables which follow contain information on the nature of the present offense, personal background characteristics, criminal history, furlough program participation and release characteristics for these individuals. The information contained in these tables was derived from the computerized inmate data base and was produced by the Operations Research Unit on the Regent's Computer Network (RCN). Information is also reported on trends in the release population over the last five years, 1986 to 1990.

Only those individuals who were released to the street by the authority of the Parole Board, by expiration of sentence, or by a certificate of discharge are included in the report. Individuals who were released to another correctional authority or to another sentence are not included. Individuals who were released by any means other than parole, discharge or expiration (such as releases by court order, death, or escape) are not included in the report. Individuals transferred to other correctional authorities to serve their sentences who were subsequently released are not included in the report; individuals transferred from other authorities who were subsequently released from a DOC facility are included in the report. Individuals who were released more than once during 1990 are counted as multiple cases in the report.

In reading the tables in this report, the reader should note the following: (1) the release population is divided according to the institution of release; (2) the left number in each cell, in the column marked "N", represents the number of individuals who fall in the corresponding category in the table; (3) the right number in each cell, in the column marked "%", represents the percentage of the number of individuals in a particular category to the total number of releases from that institution (column percents).

For example, upon referring to the table on pages 33-35, committing institution is presented and the following types of information can be obtained: (1) the number of releases from each facility in 1990, and (2) the number and percentage of releases from each institution who were originally committed to each of the committing institutions.

The reader should note that the number in the unknown category is relatively high for certain variables, specifically certain social history and criminal history variables. Caution should be used in interpreting the resulting tables.

Releases From the DOC, 1986 to 1990

During 1990, there were 3,835 releases¹ from the DOC. This is a 3 percent increase from the previous year, and a 27 percent increase from the 3,022 releases that occurred in 1986. Figure 1 shows the numbers of male releases and female releases for each year during 1986 to 1990. Both the number of male releases and female releases increased during the period. Male releases increased from 2,238 in 1986 to 2,862 in 1990 (28 percent). Female releases increased from 784 in 1986 to 973 in 1990 (24 percent). Table 1 (on pages 7 through 9) shows selected characteristics of releases for each year in this period.

In 1990, 43 percent of all males were released from maximum or medium security facilities and 57 percent were released from lower security facilities. This remains in the range established during 1986 - 1989 where the proportion of male releases that were released from maximum or medium security facilities fluctuated between 43 percent and 48 percent. In contrast, 82 percent of the female releases were released from higher security facilities and 18 percent from lower security facilities. This figure also remains in the range established during 1986-1989 where the proportion of female releases from maximum or medium security facilities increased from 76% to 82%.

Most males released from the DOC during the five year period were serving state prison or reformatory sentences. The proportion of males released from the DOC who were serving county sentences increased during 1986 - 1988 and has decreased since 1989. Most females released from the DOC were serving county sentences. The proportion of females who were released on state prison or reformatory sentences varied from 12 percent to 14 percent during 1986 - 1989. In 1990, this proportion increased to 15 percent. The type of sentence that individuals were serving prior to release is shown in Table 1.

The type of release is also shown in Table 1. During 1990, 65 percent of male releases were released by parole. During 1986 - 1988, the proportion of male releases who were released by parole decreased from 68 percent to 62 percent. This proportion started to increase to its current level in 1989. In 1990, 34 percent of female releases were released by parole. The proportion of female releases who were released by parole decreased from 36 percent to 30 percent from 1986 to 1988. In 1989, this proportion began to increase to its 1990 level.

The average time served is related to the institution to which the individual was committed. For 1990 releases the average time served for a Cedar Junction sentence was 50.9 months, the average time served for a Concord sentence was 24.3 months and the average time served for a Framingham sentence was 7.0 months. The data in Table 1 show that for Cedar Junction and Concord sentences, time served decreased from 1986 to 1988, increased in 1989 and then decreased again in 1990. Time served for Framingham sentences fluctuated from 5.7 months in 1986 to 8.0 months in 1989.

The 1990 figure (7.0 months) falls within the range established during 1986 - 1989.

Overall, during the past five years the number of releases from the Department has increased each year. The percentage increase has been larger for males than for females. In fact, for 1987 and 1990 the number of female releases decreased from the level it was during each of the immediate prior years.

A Profile of 1990 Releases

Release Characteristics

Tables 2 through 7 present selected characteristics of the offender and the release for 1990 releases.

Institution Released From. Table 2 shows the distributions of male releases and female releases by the releasing institution and by security level. Figure 2 illustrates the distributions of female releases and male releases by security level of releasing institution using pie charts. For male releases, 43 percent were released from maximum or medium security facilities and 57 percent were released from lower security facilities. In contrast, 82 percent of all females were released from medium security and 18 percent were released from lower security facilities.

Type of Sentence. Table 3 shows the distributions of male releases and female releases by sentence type. Figure 3 presents this information graphically for female releases and for male releases. For females, 85% of the releases from the DOC during 1990 were releases from county sentences which typically are very short, 6 percent were serving state prison sentences, and 8 percent were serving reformatory sentences. In contrast, 13 percent of the male releases from the DOC during 1990 were releases from county sentences, 50 percent were releases from state prison sentences, and 37 percent were releases from reformatory sentences.

Type of Release. Table 4 shows the distributions of male releases and female releases by type of release. For males, the most common type of release was parole, accounting for 65 percent of all releases in 1990. In contrast, 34 percent of the females were released by parole. For females, 66 percent of all releases were by expiration of sentence or discharge, while 35 percent of males were released by good conduct discharge or expiration of sentence. This information is presented graphically in Figure 4.

Parole Violator Status. Table 5 shows the distribution of male releases by the security level of the releasing facility, parole violator status, and split sentence status. For male releases, the security level of the release is related to parole violator status. Parole violators make up a larger proportion of releases from secure facilities than they do of releases from lower security facilities because frequently they return to custody for a short duration, and the brevity of parole violators' incarcerations impedes their transfers to lower security. Of the 1240 male releases from secure facilities, 528 (43%) were parole violators, while of the 1622 male releases from lower security facilities, 250 (15%) were parole violators.

Split Sentences. Some first releases from secure facilities are individuals who received split sentences. A split sentence is divided into a term of incarceration followed by community supervision by the court. Of the 712 male first releases from secure facilities, 134 (19%) were serving split sentences, while of the 1372 male first releases from lower security facilities, 214 (16%) were serving split sentences. Among parole violators, 15 (3%) of the 528 male releases from secure facilities were serving split sentences, while 14 (6%) of the 250 male releases from lower security facilities were serving split sentences.

Time Served. Table 6 shows time served until first release by committing institution and offense. Time served varies by committing institution: 50.9 months for Cedar Junction, 24.3 months for Concord and 7.0 months for Framingham. The average time served has decreased for all three committing institutions when compared to time served for 1989 releases: Cedar Junction 54.0 months, Concord 27.4 months, and Framingham 8.0 months. Time served also varies by offense category. For example, male releases from Cedar Junction sentences served longest for person offenses (an average of 72.3 months) and shortest for drug offenses (28.7 months); male releases from Concord sentences served longest for person offenses (an average of 29.9 months) and shortest for "other" offenses (15.2 months); and female releases from Framingham commitments served longest for person offenses (an average of 19.3 months) and shortest for offenses in the "other" category (3.4 months).

Nature of Present Offense

Sentencing Courts. Sixty-five percent of the releases were originally sentenced in Superior Courts including 18 percent from Suffolk Superior Court, 10 percent from Hampden Superior Court, 10 percent from Worcester Superior Court, and 10 percent from Middlesex Superior Court. Twenty-four percent of the releases were sentenced in district or municipal courts. Nine percent were transfers from other jurisdictions (out-of-state, federal, or county inmates).

Jail Credits. Fifty-six percent of the releases spent time in jail prior to their commitment; 44 percent had spent no time in jail prior to their commitment.

Commitment Institution. Cedar Junction commitments represented 37 percent of all releases; Concord commitments represented 28 percent of all releases and Framingham commitments represented 25 percent of all releases. There were 358 individuals released (9 percent) who were originally committed to another jurisdiction (most of which were Longwood releases).

Sentence. Most releases (61 percent) were serving either reformatory or county sentences. Twenty-three individuals who were serving life sentences were released in 1990.

Present Offense. Thirty-nine percent of the releases were serving sentences for violent offenses (30 percent for person offenses and 8 percent for sex offenses), 23 percent were serving sentences for property offenses, 21 percent for drug offenses, and 18 percent for "other" offenses.

Age at Incarceration. The median age at incarceration for the releases during 1990 was 27 years old.

Personal Background Characteristics

Sex. Seventy-five percent of the releases were male and 25 percent were female.

Race. Fifty-eight percent of the 1990 release group were Caucasian, 26 percent African American, and 15 percent were identified as Hispanic. There were 7 Native Americans and 17 Asians in the release group.

Marital Status. The majority of releases (67 percent) were single at the time of their commitment.

Military Discharge. Of the 3,385 releases for whom military information was known, 89 percent had never served in the military.

Prior Address. The largest group of releases (43 percent) came from the Boston MSA.

Occupation. Most releases whose occupations were known had worked in the areas of manual labor (50 percent) or services (24 percent) prior to commitment.

1. Individuals who were parole violators, were originally committed to another authority or were serving complex sentences (forthwith, split, fines or from & after sentences) were excluded from the analysis.
2. Offenses were selected based on the frequency with which they appear among the release group.

Education. The median educational level at commitment for the 1990 releases was twelfth grade; 89 percent had achieved a ninth grade or higher level of education; 18 percent had completed a GED; and 7 percent had completed some college or had graduated from college.

Criminal History

The proportion of unknown cases for the criminal history variables is 18 percent. The percentages below are based on those cases where criminal history information is known.

Prior Court Appearances. The median age at first court appearance was eighteen years. The median number of court appearances prior to the current commitment was 9. A majority of the releases had previously appeared in court for person offenses (71 percent), property offenses (77 percent) and narcotics offenses (55 percent). A minority had appeared in court for sex offenses (16 percent), alcohol offenses (31 percent) and escapes (8 percent).

Prior Incarcerations. Twelve percent of the releases during 1990 had prior juvenile commitments, 46 percent of the releases during 1990 had prior incarcerations in a house of correction, and 11 percent had prior incarcerations in a state or federal correctional institution. Overall, 49 percent of the releases had served some time in an adult correctional facility for another commitment.

Furlough Program Participation

Table 7 shows the distributions of male releases and female releases by furlough program participation. Eight percent of the releases had one or more furloughs during their incarceration. Four percent of the releases received earned furloughs only, four percent received emergency escorted furloughs only, and one percent received both earned and emergency escorted furloughs. Among the male releases, 5 percent had one or more earned furloughs and 6 percent had one or more emergency escorted furloughs. For the female releases, 2 percent had one or more earned furloughs and 1 percent had one or more emergency escorted furloughs. Five releases had one furlough escape during their incarceration (this number includes one late over outcome).
