Abstract

This report presents a statistical description of the 3,446 offenders released to the street from a Massachusetts correctional facility during 1988. This report also presents information on trends among releases over the last five years.

Highlights from this report include the following:

- The 3,446 releases in 1988 represent an increase of 362 (12 percent) over 1987 releases and an increase of 1,321 (62 percent) over 1984 releases.
- The number of males released during 1988 increased by 6 percent from 1987, while the number of females released during 1988 increased by 20 percent.
- Fifty-four percent of all releases were by parole, 37 percent were by discharge and 9 percent were by expiration of sentence.
- Fifty-six percent were released from maximum or medium security facilities and 44 percent were released from lower security facilities. Many of those released from secure facilities were females serving county sentences or male parole violators.
- The average time served was 48.6 months for individuals serving Cedar Junction sentences, 19.1 months for individuals serving Concord sentences, and 6.0 months for individuals serving Framingham sentences.

Introduction

This report is a statistical description of individuals released to the street from facilities of the Massachusetts Department of Correction during 1988. The tables which follow contain information on the nature of the present offense, personal background characteristics, criminal history, furlough program participation and release characteristics for these individuals. The information contained in these tables was derived from the computerized inmate data base and was produced by the Operations Research Unit on the Regent's Computer Network (RCN). Information is also reported on trends in the release population over the last five years, 1984 to 1988.

Only those individuals who were released to the street by the authority of the Parole Board, by expiration of sentence, or by a certificate of discharge are included in the report. Individuals who were released to another correctional authority or to another sentence are not included. Individuals who were released by any means other than parole, discharge or expiration are not included in the report. This includes releases by court order, death and escape. Individuals transferred to other correctional authorities to serve their sentences who were subsequently released are not included in the report; individuals transferred from other authorities who were subsequently released from a DOC facility are included in the report. Individuals who were released more than once during 1988 are counted as multiple cases in the report.

In reading the tables in this report, the reader should note the following: (1) the release population is divided according to the institution of release; (2) the left number in each cell, in the column marked "N", represents the number of individuals who fall in the corresponding category in the table; (3) the right number in each cell, in the column marked "%", represents the percentage of the number of individuals in a particular category to the total number of releases from that institution (column percents).

For example, upon referring to the table on pages 38-40, committing institution is presented and the following types of information can be obtained:

- (1) the number of releases from each facility in 1988; and,
- (2) the number and percentage of releases from each institution who were originally committed to each of the committing institutions.

The reader should note that the number in the unknown category is relatively high for certain variables, specifically certain social history and criminal history variables. This is due to incomplete community data records at the initial booking, or at the pretrial intake. Caution should be used in interpreting these variables.

Releases From the DOC, 1984 to 1988

During the last five years the number of releases from the DOC increased from 2,125 in 1984 to 3,446 in 1988. This represents an increase of 62 percent. Table 1 (on pages 8 through 10) shows selected characteristics of releases for each year in this period. The increase occurred for both male and female releases. Male releases increased from 1,468 in 1984 to 2,530 in 1988 (72 percent). Female releases increased from 657 in 1984 to 916 in 1988 (39 percent).

In 1988, 48 percent of all males were released from maximum or medium security facilities and 52 percent were released from lower security facilities. This represents an increase in the proportion of releases from maximum security facilities when compared to the previous four years. In contrast, 80 percent of the females were released from higher security facilities and 20 percent from lower security facilities. This is similar to the pattern of prior years.

Most males released from the DOC during the five year period were serving state prison or reformatory sentences. However, there has been an increase each year in the proportion of males released from the DOC who were serving county sentences. Most females released from the DOC were serving county sentences. There is a small proportion of females who were released on state prison or reformatory sentences. Releases on state prison sentences and reformatory sentences remained fairly stable for females over the five year period. The type of sentence that individuals were serving prior to release is shown in Table 1.

Type of release is related to the type of sentence served. Most males are released by parole and most females are released by expiration of sentence. The number of males released by discharge and the number of females released by discharge has increased steadily for each year. The pattern of types of release is shown in Table 1.

The average time served varies by the type of sentence served. For 1988 releases the average time served for a Cedar Junction sentence was 48.6 months, the average time served for a Concord sentence was 19.1 months and the average time served for a Framingham sentence was 6.0 months. From the data presented in Table 1 there appears to be a slight increase in time served for Framingham sentences, from 5.0 months in 1984 to 6.0 months in 1988. For Concord sentences, the time served increased each year for 1984 to 1986, but then decreased for 1987 and 1988 releases. Time served for Cedar Junction sentences increased from 1984 to 1985, and has decreased since 1985.

Overall, during the past five years releases from the Department have increased each year. The percentage increase has been more marked for males than for females.

A Profile of 1988 Releases

Release Characteristics

Tables 2, 3 and 4 (on pages 14 through 16) present selected characteristics of the offender and the release for 1988 releases. All the other tables that follow show the released population by the institution from which the offender was released. In order to maintain the privacy of the individual offenders, no information is presented for institutions from which fewer than five individuals were released. This affects the presentation of the data for two institutions (Meridian House and Medfield Prison Project). The three releases from Meridian House and Medfield Prison Project are included in the total column but do not appear elsewhere in the tables. Releases from Lemuel Shattuck Hospital are included in the following tables as being released from the institution they were in prior to placement at the hospital.

Institution Released From. Table 2 presents information on the specific institution and security level from which individuals were released by the sex of the offender. For male releases, 48 percent were released from maximum or medium security facilities and 52 percent were released from lower security facilities. In contrast, 80 percent of all females were released from maximum or medium security and 20 percent were released from lower security facilities.

Type of Sentence. The second variable examined in Table 2 is type of sentence served for 1988 releases. For females, 88 percent of those released from the DOC during 1988 were serving county sentences which typically are very short. In contrast, 45 percent of the males released from the DOC were serving state prison sentences, and 38 percent were serving reformatory sentences.

Type of Release. For males, the most common type of release was parole, accounting for 62 percent of all releases in 1988. In contrast, 30 percent of the females were paroled. For females, 70 percent of all releases were by expiration of sentence or discharge. In contrast, 37 percent of males were discharged and one male was released by expiration of sentence.

The information presented in Table 2 show that 1,943 (56%) of the 3,446 releases were from maximum or medium security facilities. A further analysis of releases from these facilities show that 732 (38%) of these releases are females. The large number of females released from higher security facilities is related, in large part, to type of sentence served, i.e., the majority of the females released were serving short county sentences. This explanation does not apply to males because very few serve county sentences. Table 3 explores select information on the 1,211 males released during 1988 from maximum or medium security institutions.

Parole Violator Status. For male releases, the security level released from is often related to parole violator status, that is, many of the releases are actually parole violators being re-released on a sentence. Of the 1,211 releases from secure facilities, 557 (46%) were parole violators, while 654 (54%) were first releases. Parole violators tend to serve a short amount of time from their return until their re-release, which may explain why so many are released from secure facilities.

Split Sentences. Some of the first releases from secure facilities are individuals who received split sentences. A split sentence is divided into a term of incarceration followed by community supervision by the court. There were 115 males with split sentences who were released from secure facilities as first releases. This makes up 18 percent of the 654 individuals who were first releases from secure facilities. Since the time served in prison for persons receiving split sentences is usually short, this hinders transfers to lower security.

Another variable that may explain some of the releases from secure facilities is whether or not the inmate had received lower security placements during his period of incarceration. Past DOC research has shown that the majority of males released from secure facilities had received one or more placements in lower security settings during their incarceration.

Time Served. Table 4 shows time served until first release by committing institution and offense. Time served varies by committing institution (48.6 months for Cedar Junction, 19.1 months for Concord and 6.0 months for Framingham). Time served also varies by offense category. For example, individuals committed to Cedar Junction served longest for person offenses (an average of 63.5 months) and shortest for drug offenses (23.5 months); individuals committed to Concord served longest for sex offenses (an average of 24.0 months) and shortest for drug offenses (13.6 months); and individuals committed to Framingham served longest for person offenses (an average of 10.4 months) and shortest for offenses in the "other" category (3.0 months).

1. Individuals who were parole violators, were originally committed to another authority or were serving complex sentences (forthwith, split, fines or from & after sentences) were excluded from the analysis.
2. Offenses were selected based on the frequency with which they appear among the releasee group.

Nature of Present Offense

Sentencing Courts. Originally 62 percent of the releases were sentenced in Superior Courts including 19 percent from Suffolk Superior Court, 11 percent from Middlesex Superior Court and 9 percent from Worcester Superior Court. Twenty-four percent of the releases were sentenced in District or Municipal Courts. Twelve percent were transfers from other jurisdictions (out-of-state, federal or county inmates).

Jail Credits. Fifty-five percent of the releases spent time in jail prior to their commitment; 45 percent had spent no time in jail prior to their commitment.

Commitment Institution. Cedar-Junction commitments represented 33 percent of all releases; Concord commitments represented 28 percent of all releases and Framingham commitments represented 27 percent of all releases. There were 427 (12 percent) individuals released who were originally committed to another jurisdiction (most of which were Longwood releases).

Sentence. Most releases (66 percent) were serving either reformatory or county sentences. Eleven individuals who were serving life sentences were released in 1988. All of the lifers released during 1988 had second-degree life sentences and had been committed for murder 2.

Present Offense. Forty-one percent of the releases were serving sentences for violent offenses (33 percent for person offenses and 8 percent for sex offenses), 22 percent were serving sentences for property offenses, 16 percent for drug offenses and 21 percent for "other" offenses.

Age at Incarceration. The median age at incarceration for the releases during 1988 was 26 years old.

Personal Background Characteristics

Sex. Seventy-three percent of the releases were male and 27 percent were female.

Race. Twenty-four percent of the releases were black and not hispanic and 63 percent were white and not hispanic. There were 10 Native Americans and 7 Asians in the release group. Thirteen percent of all individuals released were Hispanic.

Marital Status. The majority of releases (64 percent) were single at the time of their commitment.

Military Discharge. Of the 3,310 releases for whom military information was known, 88 percent had never served in the military.

Prior Address. The largest group of releases (45 percent) came from the Boston MSA.

Occupation. Most releases whose occupations were known had worked in the areas of manual labor (50 percent) or services (29 percent) prior to commitment.

Education. The median educational level for the 1988 releases was eleventh grade; 50 percent had achieved at least a high school level of education.

Criminal History

The rate of unknowns for the Criminal History variables is 14 percent, the percentages below are based on those cases where criminal history information is known.

Prior Court Appearances. The median age at first court appearance was seventeen years. The median number of court appearances prior to their current commitment was 9. A majority of the releases had previously appeared in court for person offenses (70 percent) and property offenses (76 percent). A minority had appeared in court for sex offenses (15 percent), alcohol offenses (32 percent) and escapes (7 percent). Slightly more than half of the releases had court appearances for drug offenses (51 percent).

Prior Incarcerations. Fourteen percent of the releases during 1988 had prior juvenile commitments, 43 percent of the releases during 1987 had prior incarcerations in a house of correction and 13 percent had prior incarcerations in a state or federal correctional institution. Overall, 48 percent of the releasees had served some time in an adult correctional facility for another commitment.

Prior Paroles. Three percent had been paroled while a juvenile and 44 percent of those had received a parole violation while a juvenile. Ten percent of the releases during 1988 had been paroled as an adult and 64 percent of those had previous parole violations. Overall, 12 percent had been paroled at least once prior to their current release and 62 percent of those had previous parole violations.

Furlough Program Participation

Twelve percent of the releases had one or more furloughs during their present incarceration; 88 percent had no participation in the furlough program. Six individuals had one or more furlough escapes. Three percent of the 1988 female releasees and 16 percent of the male releasees had one or more furloughs during their present incarceration. The number of inmates who participated in one or more furloughs prior to their 1988 release decreased when compared to 1987 releases.
