ABSTRACT

This report is concerned with women released from Charlotte House during 1977 and 1978.

There were a total of 27 women released in 1977 and 18 women released in 1978. In 1977, 15 of the 27 women successfully completed the program at Charlotte House, giving a completion rate of 56%. In 1978, 12 of the 18 women successfully completed the program, giving a completion rate of 67%. In 1977, 6 out of the 27 women in the program escaped, giving an escape rate of 22%. For 1978, one woman escaped out of the 18 women in the program, giving an escape rate of 6%.

INTRODUCTION

The 1972 Correctional Reform Act (Chapter 777) removed many of the legal barriers that had existed regarding community programs for offenders within the Massachusetts Department of Correction. This act enables the Commissioner to authorize the establishment of small, separately operated community based facilities to which offenders could be transferred prior to their release.

One example of one of these programs is Charlotte House, a contract house that provides residential facilities for women who are still incarcerated in the state correctional system but have 12 months or less of their sentence to serve.

Friends of Framingham, Inc. was originally organized in 1948. At the beginning of its operation, this organization worked for change in legislative and administrative policy concerning modern correctional practices. In 1962, the Friends of Framingham became directly involved with corrections in Massachusetts and worked towards opening a halfway house for women in the state. The house opened its doors in 1964 and served women on a post-release basis from MCI-Framingham.

In 1973, after the halfway house was renamed Charlotte House, program officials contracted with the Massachusetts Department of Correction to convert from post-release status to pre-release status. While residing at Charlotte House, the offender will participate in work or educational programs and will receive counseling and other support services that will hopefully facilitate her readjustment to the community.

This report is the first component of a three part evaluation of residents at Charlotte House who were released during 1977 and 1978. This particular report is a client profile of these women. This evaluation is an update of a previous study published by the Research Unit on the Charlotte House sample.<sup>1</sup> The second component of the evaluation will be an examination of those characteristics that distinguish between program completers and non-completers at Charlotte House. The third and last component will be a recidivism follow-up examination for women released from Charlotte House during 1977 and 1978.

SAMPLES

In determining the client profile, a population consisting of women admitted to and released from Charlotte House during 1977 and 1978 was chosen (N=45).

For comparative purposes the total sample for each year was divided into two groups- program completers and program non-completers. A program completer was defined as any resident who successfully completed her stay at Charlotte House and was released to the streets either by Permit of the Parole Board or a certificate of discharge. A program non-completer was defined as any woman who did not complete her stay at Charlotte House but was instead returned to MCI-Framingham. When the total sample for each year was divided, the results were as follows: for 1977- 15 women were program completers (completion rate 56%) and 12 women were program non-completers (non-completion rate 44%); for 1978- 12 women were program completers (completion rate 67%) and 6 were non-completers (non-completion rate 33%).

There were several different reasons for a return to MCI-Framingham. Some examples are as follows: violation of house or department rules, new charges, security risk, or an attempted or actual escape. The specific reasons for 1977 and 1978 are summarized in Table I.

DATA COLLECTION

Data collected for both samples consisted of: (1) commitment variables, (2) personal background variables, (3) criminal history variables, and (4) furlough variables. Data was derived from the computerized data base developed by the Correction and Parole Management Information System (CAPMIS). Additional data was collected from the files of the Department of Correction, the Parole Board, and the Board of Probation. The data was analyzed on the Massachusetts State College Computer Network (MSCCN)<sup>2</sup>.

A complete statistical breakdown by variable for each sample year is documented in Appendix I.

SUMMARY

A typical profile can be constructed of the Charlotte House women released during 1977 and 1978. A large percentage (40%) of these women were guilty of person offenses. The majority were serving minimum sentences of an indeterminate nature and a maximum sentence of five years or less. The racial breakdown was 50% white and 40% black and most of the women were single (56%) with no prior military service (78%). They were age 25 or older when placed at Charlotte House (60%) and age 25 or older when committed to the system. A large majority of these women (93%) had not received any furloughs.

A large majority of the women had some kind of drug use mentioned (62%) and had five or fewer court appearances (58%). Most of these women had not had any prior juvenile incarcerations (87%), had not had any prior county incarcerations (91%), no prior state or federal incarcerations, (76%), and no prior adult incarcerations (71%). The majority of the women (71%) also spent four months or less at Charlotte House before being released.
